Subject: Security Alert: Highly Critical Google Chrome and Opera Vulnerabilities
Date: Thursday, August 12, 2010 1:37:29 PM
Importance: High

Hello again CNRE,

Both Google Chrome and Opera have announced and patched some “Highly Critical” vulnerabilities in their web browser applications. These are not a browsers that many of you will have installed on your computers since we don’t install them on new or reformatted computers nor do we directly support them. However, if you have manually installed either of them and are using it as your default web browser then you should go to www.google.com/chrome for Google’s Chrome web browser or <http://www.opera.com/browser> for Opera’s web browser and download the latest version ASAP. Thanks. Lon.
